In this 2 days workshop you experience some of the practical tools of NVC and solution focused approach. You might be surprised to use them. Sure it takes time to change habits and to realize the own responsibility of creating helpful solutions. Yet we begin now and deepen our natural understanding of good communication. We feel and see the small and big differences and also fun by doing so. Maybe it is the beginning of a new road in communication or saying this in a more business way:

NVC in business, employee communication and organisational development:

- Bring out the best in your staff, colleagues or workplace team
- Boost productivity in work meetings
- Boost efficiency by solving conflicts, before they are undermining and explosive
- How to face criticism? From your boss, clients, co-workers, government staff ...
- How to deal with people, we find highly irritating?
- Transforming Enemy-Images at work
- Practical ideas to keep relationships and teamwork satisfying?
- How to increase cooperation and trust?

What can you expect from the 2 days workshop?

We transfer knowledge in a practical way. Through experiments you will get important insights and realize, what is needed. We find resources and have plenty of chances to laugh, also about ourselves. We learn by doing. Workshop language is English.
